Case Study

Outdoor Curriculum Integration at Lady Manners School, Derbyshire

Lady Manners School in Derbyshire integrated its school grounds into the curriculum to enhance student engagement and learning.

- Maths lessons involving measuring tree heights to understand statistical concepts.
- Science classes exploring local ecosystems and biodiversity.
- Geography projects utilizing the school's wetland area for field studies.

This hands-on approach provided real-world learning experiences, fostering a deeper connection between students and their environment.

Tel: 01562 730 580
Email: enquiries@actualise-learning.com